It's been good, it's been bad
It's been worse here before
Just like a dream I've had
I wouldn't change a day for nothing
And I'm sure that I won't regret

I take it day by day, and one day at a time
I take it day by day and one day at a time
Cuz' I've lost a nickel and I'm sure you have my dime

I'm not mad, and I'm not glad
My bones are getting tired
From the day I've had
Don't you lift a finger
While I get your yoga pad

I take it day by day, and one day at a time
I take it day by day, and one day at a time Cuz you don't like me drinking, and I see you have your wine

Have you seen the end? have you found yourself again?
Our love is running wild from the mirrors I put in Now that you can see it, I hope I start to win

I take it day by day and one day at a time
I take it day by day and one day at a time
I've got bad news but the blues is what I find
