It was four long years
That I had you by my side
It was four long years
That I had you by my side
Now you've gone and left me, and I'm all alone at night

I see you found another man
It only took you about an hour and ten
I see you found another man
It only took you an hour and ten
I followed rules and I was stepped aside
Your a fool for leaving me this time

Wait until you come home
And you arms are full with air
Wait until you come home
And your arms are full with air
I hope your not crying, when you didn't even care

I never understood
Why you couldnt call me up at night
I never understood
Why you couldnt call me up at night
I see now that you were busy, busy losing me for life
