

Rigby

"Mystery Man"

Visit "Mystery Man" on MotoLyrics.com

Mystery man where are you now
I really had enough, reality still sucks tried my best to give it all I got I guess it's not enough this life is one big farce

And no one understands it why you hold on to the past

You're finally grown man so stop crying
You're finally grown man so stop hiding

Mystery man where are you now
all my hopes and dreams are lost along the way somehow I don't know how to get things
right
I gotta have something to believe in Would you come back, without a fight

Mystery man where are you now
I watched to many game shows I saw too many weeds grow could anybody please tell me why we watch so many wells dry we find so many trees catching fire

and no one understands it why you hold on to the past

You're finally grown man so stop hiding
You're finally grown man so stop crying

Mystery man where are you now
all my hopes and dreams are lost
along the way somehow I don't know how to get things
right
I gotta have something to believe in would you come back, at least tonight

Visit Rigby page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.