"Solid Ground"

Waves, swelling me down like candles in the sun
I drown so I stay down the knees
Watch the ocean come onder
The tongue it pulled me back in
I cried a year, never did swim before
Still looking for a cure

When the sky fell down and the war crashed in
From the down, now we built
And we have been
I got lost in the water
No one should be found
Still searching for solid ground

Stars gather around
I'm flooding into space
I'm lost in an asteroid cloud,
Never seen such a dark place
The time, the moon pull near
The sun, the earth find a good wind before
Still looking for a cure.

When the sky fell down and the war crashed in
From the down, now we built
And we have been
I got lost in the water
No one should be found
Still searching for solid ground

It's over now, the candle will harm you over now, the candle will harm you
over now, the candle will harm you over now

When the sky fell down and the war crashed in
From the down, now we built
And we have been
I got lost in the water
No one should be found
Still searching for solid ground
Still searching for solid ground
