I saw you walking down the subway tracks,
Your face down and your shoulders slightly bent.
How come you're lonely on a Saturday Night?
Your eyes gloomy in this misty back-alley light.

I said hello, you said goodnight,
I said this ain't living, it's just getting by, she said:

Don't you know
Time is a miracle,
Time is a miracle,
Time is a miracle, use it.

Now I run, to uphold, all the stuff that you told, but I'm falling.
Where I fell to my knees, on the tracks where I bleed, now I want you.
All my life, trying to find all the answers to time, now
I'm losing,
My head to the fact that it's right here instead, now you choose it.

Don't you know
Time is a miracle,
Time is a miracle,
Time is a miracle, use it.

Don't you know
Time is a miracle,
Time is a miracle,
Time is a miracle, use it.

For time to end
Seems both impossible and inevitable, so live your life
now,
Not only beyond, but also deep within every form,
Being its innermost invisible and indestructible essence.

Don't you know
Time is a miracle,

Time is a miracle,
Time is a miracle, use it.

Time is a miracle,
Time is a miracle,
Time is a miracle, use it.

Don't let the demons of the past determine your future,
Because eventually your fear for the future will make you live in the past,
The only thing that counts is now,
Everything else is secondary.
