When summer is gone and love's on the run
When the cold has settled in
When no one's around and silence is too loud
When longing's deep within

No holding up
No crying off when you have to cry out
Just let it pour, lessen the hurting
Open the door, time and again

Baby won't you cry
Baby try
Cry until the tears of pain release you
Baby won't you cry
Baby try
Cry until the choice of rain relieve you
Baby won't you cry
Just give cry a try
When magic is lost, recounting the cost
And you wonder what went wrong
When no one's to blame... playing the game
And you knew it all along
Just give cry a try...
