A bomb hits the city all life instantly vaporized but I'm not so fortunate burning right before my eyes stumbling I trip over pieces of descending flesh leaving a pile of smoldering humanoid mess radiation
coming in waves
leading me to a nuclear grave

Are you ready
will you be
will you fight WW III
are you ready
are you sure will you fight WW IV

Humanity somehow stood up on its mutated feet reeling with pride man just would not accept his defeat into the missiles deadly disease and poison gas launching them off terracidal journey kills the last vomiting blood
I choke on my tongue
the gas from above is filling my lungs

Chorus

Silence and darkness the species of man is extinct the boiling oceans into which the continents sink gravity gone the moon collides with a dead earth flaming world out of orbit flying into deep space prey for your death
if you survive
you'll die in pain
in world war V

Chorus
