Caroline Hecht - Wound

Is it enough to ask for
The tiniest illusion that keeps me coming back for more
Is it enough to rain on my soul
And to pour it all out just when when it starts to get full
Nobody here is watching
Nobody here seems to mind
So take off the layers and reasons
And let it all unwind
Heartache or none I'm swallowing stones
And the evening is turning me unusually cold
Take it on baby rush to her aid
While the faintest recollection of yourself degrades
Nobody here is watching
Nobody here seems to mind
So take off the layers and reasons
And let it all unwind
Loud wind is roaring inside my veins
While the chaos from volcanoes and laughter maintains careful now tender be soft to your own Gentle with how much of yourself you're willing to loan
Nobody here is watching
Nobody here seems to mind
So take off the layers and reasons
And let it all unwind let it all unwind
