Power down android. You know you are pushing your gears too far. If you feel you're giving out, the signals you're sending aren't reaching quite far enough. Oh! I can find a single point to navigate myself to you. To find that you are just a machine, when all of this time was spent looking for an answer that you cannot find... You realize that you are constructed of circuits, you are just a machine. If you feel you're giving out, the signals you're sending aren't reaching quite far enough. Oh! I can find a single point to navigate myself to you. Change your frequency so we can make contact. You have all the flaws of a man, but as much freedom as a grain of sand inside this hourglass. If you feel you're giving out, the signals you're sending aren't reaching quite far enough. Oh! I can find a single point to navigate myself to you.
