Behind your eyes is intention to kill
I fell for it once now no one will believe your lies
One too many times
You left me to decay in this horror
In this horror

While you sit on your throne
You see me as your greatest failure
Looking down at me
It's not all about you
One day your throne will be brought down

Corruption will bring destruction

It will bring me liberation to one day see your pain
Just like when you laughed at mine

I'll feel so liberated watching your empire fall
Can't wait for the day when your reign finally ends

Your day will come, bring me your head or I'll do it myself

Your world will crumble, your day will come
Cry all you wish no one will hear your repentance
