A sleepless blip at the edge of a dream
A distant voice said you'd better go in
In or out
It makes no odds to me
A plague of thoughts I'd rather not know
Turned my stomach from a hum to a wince
They hold me there
Lets stew the night away

How does it feel to be happy?
What does it mean to be normal?
When will it stop being boring?
How does it feel to be timely?
What does it mean to be stable?
When will it stop being boring?

A green eyed dwarf fed my heart to a clam
I searched for the womb
But all I found was the fridge
I want to be warm
The worlds as cold as ice

How does it feel to be happy?
What does it mean to be normal?
When will it stop being boring?
How does it feel to be timely?
What does it mean to be stable?
When will it stop being boring?

Go back to sleep
And then you'll see
It's just a simple web of meaningless - shite!

A terrestrial pulse wants to keep me alive
We cannot evolve so we're better off dead
Here or there it makes no odds to me
A timeless crack at the edge of my mind
Sucks in debris from a hiccup in space
Nothings a problem
And yet it's the reason why.

How does it feel to be happy?
What does it mean to be normal?
When will it stop being boring?
How does it feel to be timely?
What does it mean to be stable?
When will it stop being boring?
