Here comes another haunting memory

Leading us nowhere

Nowhere but home....

Oh, What I done!

How'd it get so off-track?

I'm not the only one

To let people run over my back

And it's hard to play the game

When they're holding all the pieces in their hands

I know I'll never be the same

I won't let them push my head into the sand

I won't let them push my head into the sand...

When you really need someone

(When you really really need someone)

But someone's not who they seem to be

Well here comes another haunting melody

Leading us nowhere

Nowhere but home....

Oh, What you done!

How'd it get so off-track?

You're not the only one

To let people run over your back

And it's hard to play the game

When they're running as fast as they can

I know they've got no shame

Don't let them push your head into the sand

Don't let them push your head into the sand...
