

Sandmarx

"Divided"

Visit "Divided" on MotoLyrics.com

I remember how I used to cry
I still remember when you said goodbye
I do remember I didn't know why
Oh I remember very well

I know you've made some mistakes and
I know you made us feel forsaken
I understand it was never in your plan

Oh oh no

I turned into
I turned into you
But I gotta stop
Gotta stop blaming you

When it seems that life is always againts you
And all the choices are breaking you in two
Think you're no better than what you have seen in life
As the apple doesn't fall far away from the trees side

When it seems that life is always againts you
And all the choices are breaking you in two
You tell yourself in comfort when love goes wrong
A divided heart is better than a broken one

You were the one who taught me
Right from wrong and about dignity
You were the one who told me
I can be whatever I choose to be

No more tears in silence
I'm done leaping up with a pretence
Or behaviours leading to regrets

Yeah yeah yes

I guess I turned into
I turned into you
But I gotta stop
Gotta stop blaming you

Everybody makes promises they can't keep
Can we please bury my regrets real deep
It's not your fault no matter what I say
But when you decided to change it was already too late

But I can't wait to change
Together we could change the whole world
Let's start all over again and change the whole world

Everybody makes promises they can't keep
Can we please bury your anger real deep
It's not your fault no matter what I say
But when you decided to change it was already too late

When it seems that life is always againsts you
And all the choices are breaking you in two
Oh don't you know that life is what you want it be

When it seems that life is always againsts you
And all the choices are breaking you in two
You tell yourself in comfort when love goes wrong
A divided heart is better than a broken
Oh than a broken, more than a broken one

Visit Sandmarx page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.