And there's a feeling in the morning
That i can get my stomach screams a warning
As my first thoughts are forming in my head
And i can lay between the covers
Remember how i loved another
And postpone my slow recovery

But i can fall asleep tonight
If i can make it home by the daylight
When i recall the times that i was left alone
'cause in the glimmer of your eye
I begin to see myself in a different light

And there's a feeling in the morning
That i can get my stomach screams a warning
As my first thoughts are forming in my head
And they say, "whoa, baby, i gotta go...
And i hate to let you know that this way."

But i can fall asleep tonight
If i can make it home by the daylight
When i recall the times that i was left alone
'cause in the glimmer of your eye
I begin to see myself in a different light

But i can fall asleep tonight
If i can make it home by the daylight
When i recall the times that i was left alone
'cause in the glimmer of your eye
I begin to see myself in a different light
Whoa, oh oh oh...
