There's something in the way, cause' I can't breathe
Something in the way, cause' I can't see
Everytime I try, it feels so real

All the time when you did walk away
All the time you left me all alone in pain and sorrow
Reaching out in hopeless longing
Drained and stripped, afraid you'd slip away

It's okay if you want to go away
And pretend like you don't bother
All the lies that'd make me go insane
I pretend like there's no other
It's okay if you want to leave my side
I had hope that you would rather say to me:
Why wont you say to me

When I try to clear my mind of you
When I trying to ignore the truth
All the things I do mess up my view
Whenever you did call me feeling blue
I wind up in anticipation waiting, wanting, dreaming
Reaching out in hopeless longing
Drained and stripped , afraid you'd slip away

It's okay if you want to go away
And pretend like you don't bother
All the lies that'd make me go insane
I pretend like there's no other
It's okay if you want to leave my side
I had hope that you would rather say to me:
Why wont you say

It's cold and lonely here tonight
I wish you were right by my side
And I am wondering where you are
It's cold and lonely here tonight
I always have this aching scar

It's okay if you want to go away

And pretend like you don't bother
All the lies that'd make me insane
I pretend like there's no other
It's okay if you want to leave my side
I had hope that you would rather say to me:
Why wont you say

It's okay if you want to go away
And pretend like you don't bother
All the lies that'd make me insane
I pretend like there's no other
It's okay if you want to leave my side
I had hope that you would rather say to me
Why wont you say to me

There's something in the way, cause' I can't breathe
Something in the way, cause' I can't see
I guess I will just stay like this and bleed
