far above the city streets sits the queen of apathy watching the rain fall staring out the window i'm right here but you're still alone drowning in it all baby talk to me baby can't you see that everything we fail to recognize takes its toll and everything that's eating us alive kills us slowly
you can say there's nothing wrong close your eyes until it's gone but i won't let us die without a fight i'm saving us tonight so tell me what your running from don't be afraid to come undone all you're scared to say isn't worth the work it takes to keep it in and live this way with all the heartache

baby talk to me
don't just let it be cause everything we fail to recognize takes its toll and
everything that's eating us alive
i'm saving us tonight
you'd forgive everyone else of what you can't forgive yourself we're all a bunch of crooked souls gripping what we won't let go of we all get to this point in love most get here and just give up but i won't let us die without a fight
i'm saving us tonight
