

Satellite

"Silhouette"

Visit "Silhouette" on MotoLyrics.com

Honey your dreams are big enough
You're giving everything but you're giving up
Filling in the lines so quietly
But sometimes what you get is what you need

You're waiting in the line behind the cloud
You're rising like the sun we're spinning round
But you're the only girl I've ever touched
And baby you are the one I love

You're hammering the nails you learned to trust
You're praying for the rain to feel the rust
Sometimes what we have is hard to see
And happiness is harder than it seems

When there's salt in every wound to feel the burn
There's fire in your eyes for lessons learned
But you're the only girl I've ever touched
And baby you are the one I love

So how long until I see you
How long until I'm there
Your silhouette across the morning
The light shining in your hair

This is all I have to give you
You are all I have to live
And I can't find a way to hold you
But I can say it all again

Visit Satellite page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.