You've been telling lies but I don't believe you anymore Look into my eyes and I'll tell you what you're craving for I've told you many times but it doesn't matter what I say You turn your back on me and you always look the other way

You need love, love, love...

You've got a thousand faces and I've seen every single one You don't wanna listen when I'm talking 'bout the damage done

You need love, love, love...

You're losing everything and you never get a second chance There's a reason why and I'm gonna make you understand

You need love, love, love...
