

She Wants Revenge

"Little Stars"

Visit "Little Stars" on MotoLyrics.com

Are you here to debate me, are you here to waste my time?

The sun's coming up and you've worn me down.

I see you're trying to hate me, you can try all you want but I'm on your mind.

Despite what you say you're still holding on.

You swear this time is not like the last because this time you've dealt with the past and now this time at least you can say you tried.

And now this time is not like the last because this time you're through with the past and not this time, the devil is left behind.

Your eyes shine like a thousand little stars

These lies can't hide they know exactly who we are

I know you think you can shake me

I'm wishing you luck, tell me how it goes

But kicking is hard when you need a fix

And then you'll try and replace me

Dress him up and you can lay pretend

Cause it will point out the things you really miss

You swear this time is not like the last because this time you've dealt with the past and now this time at least you can say you tried.

And now this time is not like the last because this time you're through with the past and not this time, the devil is deep inside

And every second is another tear

Visit She Wants Revenge page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.