I can see right through your lies, guilt is written in your eyes.

What have you done now?

Can you feel your anger rising? Don't be so uncompromising.

Can we try to work this out somehow?

Why can't you realize I could never push you away!

Soon you will see that life is not as hard as it seems.

All your words are so deceiving, lying to yourself and cheating.

You will never change.

I can hear you scream and shout, pushing, pulling, in and out.

These obsessions you will one day regret!

Why can't you realize I could never push you away!

Soon you will see that life is not as hard as it seems.

I will never bring you down. I will only open your eyes.

Then you will see that life is not as hard as it seems.

(In time...Your life...)

I know it's hard you must fight.

This life we live won't always treat us right.

But I believe there's still hope. So just hold on; don't ever let it go!

Why can't you realize I could never push you away!

Soon you will see that life is not as hard as it seems.

I will never bring you down. I will only open your eyes.

Then you will see that life is not as hard as it seems.
