Deep in the eye of the albatross
In this kingdom of the lost
No hand to hold, this current leads me forth
So alone but so close to the shore
And in the wake of yesterday
My sanity shredded by the rays
Of the sun I'll never see again
While the mouth of eternity opens
Swallowing, swallowing, swallowing
The surface soon becomes the sky
Try and break free towards the light
Til I think 'Why bother try?'
Find me a reason to not sink in these waves
Don't tell me the horizon harbors better days.
