Call my name
Answer me where I stand
Call my name
Answer me where I stand

Here's a story of the way
I wasn't meant to be raised
Bright yellow sun that fades away
To black and blue every place
There's a bottle in the shape
Of your love for me

Now the clouds are racing higher
Blinding arrows away
There's in darkness off
The streets that my electricity

Gold shatters the sky
This is the first day
Of the rest of our lives
'Cause no one truly lives or dies

Call my name
When did this storm begin?
Answer me where I stand
Call my name
When will this story end?
Answer me where I stand

Every night you drink the money

Left to pay all the bills
No room for us, but there's another
Fucking bottle of pills
Here's your trophy on my face
It's just an eye anyway

Now the clouds are racing higher
Blinding arrows away
There's in darkness off
The streets that my electricity

This will go no further
I swear it dies today
Your nights will stay forever
If you dare once more touch me

Call my name
When did this storm begin?
Answer me where I stand
Call my name
When will this story end?
Answer me where I stand, where I stand

Call my name
When did this storm begin?
Call my name
When will this story end?

Call my name
When did this storm begin?
Call my name
