

Chariot, The "Heard This Noise"

Visit "Heard This Noise" on MotoLyrics.com

How can I smile while the vampires sing?
I must confess, sometimes, I live up in a tree.
Blessed by a ghost with an open arm and a steady
hand for redemption.
I forget that winter comes with a deadline and then she's gone. Cold air cage opened up.
Resurrected: dark angels and the conversation gets placed once again.
Underneath my brain and up in front of my mouth.
Technology, well, she takes a walk and she is so proud.
The catalysts include a microphone and a highway of wires, misused and taken for granted.
How can I smile while the vampires sing?
I must confess, sometimes, I live and dream.
Blessed by a ghost with an open arm and a steady
hand for redemption.

Visit Chariot, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.