I used to have the patience of a spider.
Long skinny legs, spinnerets spinning webs
for a song a little bird with a sweet melody
now it's all gone gone gone gone gone gone gone
gone.

Was it you who made the earth spin faster?
Stars go bright, then supernova after.
Or they spin right down where I can't see Till they're all gone gone gone gone gone gone gone
gone
gone gone gone gone gone gone gone gone.

Make another coffee thick with sugar packed with leaving white with cream.
And take the car and drive to where the sky is wide
and leave it all behind, this scene.

I don't mind the life out here.
Talking to the country store supermarket cashier
where everyone's in line for high alcohol beer
Till it's all gone gone gone gone gone gone gone gone.
gone gone gone gone gone gone gone gone gone
gone gone
gone gone gone gone gone.

Slow down. Slow down. Slow down
