Just take me back to the 610 like those times before
I want to get to the place that I call my home
It's where I met my baby girl and I know she's there waiting for me
Down by the river those kids wait to sip the summer air
And taste, yeah they taste that dirty water

Just take me back to the 610 like those times before
I want to get to the place that I call my home
If you've never been, then you never really know
It's where I go when I go home

It's not the place I was born that matters It's where I'm from
If you ask, I'll tell you where Down in the circle those kids, they wait to smoke the summer air
And smile at Northampton streetlights

When I die, just bury me in the backyard
When I die, just bury me in the backyard
When I die, just bury me in the backyard
When I die, just bury me in the backyard
