At home you were laying the stones for your future plans
Just like your father did
Just like your mother did
Looking through a window pane
It's ok, you were never one to risk it anyway
Just like your father was Just like your mother was Standing before them head down

Don't be afraid to let them see
What it is that makes you feel alive
It's not enough to say what you want
It's not enough to wait for tomorrow

Your friends like to pretend that their happiness will never end
Just like their parents who Learned from the parents too

You won't ever change
You'll stay the same as long as you let things stand in your way
Just like your father did
Just like your mother did
