Don't walk don't wait or whisper,
last chance to say you love her
Don't you go out that door
You never knew which way to follow
You never knew you were so hollow
Don't you go out that door

I'm still comparing the choices I make Reasons you have to lie for reasons I can't take
This scene repeating in the back of my head
Constant reminders of what I should have said

Don't walk don't wait or whisper,
last chance to say you love her
Don't you go out that door
You never knew which way to follow
You never knew you were so hollow
Don't you go out that door

I'll try and find my road in between the lines that I define and all that's left for me
This scene repeating in the back of my head
Constant reminders of what I should have said

Don't walk don't wait or whisper,
last chance to say you love her
Don't you go out that door
You never knew which way to follow
You never knew you were so hollow
Don't you go out that door

This scene repeating in the back of my head
Constant reminders of what I should have said

We'll have to make this count to make it

Don't walk don't wait or whisper,
last chance to say you love her
Don't you go out that door

You never knew which way to follow
You never knew you were so hollow
Don't you go out that door
