Bereft of life, feeling is nonexistent. organs melting pulling my psyche into an endless macrocosm of misery. Deconstruction leads to wellness. This self inflicted iron cudgel is demolishing my brains into the concrete. fragments of skull flying through the air.
Temptations beleager us deceiving our hopes surrounded with guns. Inching closer, exemption feels within grasp. The antidote seems to be scorning me.
We all have our demons, cyclones dressed in black.
Deteriorating. Withering away. The sensation of arachnids beneath my skin feasting on the venomous flesh that lies within. A toxic bomb extracting atrocious sin. I am a toxic bomb extracting atrocious sin. This I have to endure. Discomfort towers above all, a terrifying beast, flesh dripping from it's teeth. A wasteful existence. I've tied myself up in cobwebs of destruction and lies. But in the end this pain is temporary and it's a gift to be alive. Articulating my every poisonous decision. Articulating every poisonous decision.
