Long ago in a place at high noon
The sun was hot
Flowers were in full bloom
I was taking a long walk alone
That's when I saw him
I heard the sound of water in the distance
I was drawn to the power of it's existence
Off the road on a path through the trees
That's where the love begins
Reflections of memories of you
Now when I look into the water I see
Summer fun when we smiled at the world
That's how we use to be
Down by the water
Love is free and easy, easy
I remember all the kind words
He had to say
I remember how he kissed
It took my breath away
How my lips were soothed
By his fingers
The taste still lingers
We left the journey of the calm
That we lived in
Silver drops on the tips of everything
Where the sun was silk on the skin

Keeps me going back again
Reflections of memories of you
Now when I look into the water I see
Summer fun in spite of the world
That's how we use to be
Down by the water
Love is free and easy, easy

(Spoken word)
There is a river that flows
From the mountain of JAH
You know the one
Running under the bridge at Dublanch
Splashing against the rocks at Windblow

Inter twining through the green vegetation
Of the Layou valley
Peacefully through Pagua
And finally to Hatten Garden
At the river mouth by the sea
And if you need me
That's where I'll be

Down by the water
Where love is free and easy
