Shattervox - Ocean Swirl

I've been thinking about the words you spoke,
Can't help feel I've just awoke,
From a bad dream I felt was real,
How sick the truth has made me feel.
Self confidence is replaced with shame,
The sky's mirror reflects our blame,
Innocence is lost as it should be,
To face all our children's destiny.
History does not repeat itself it rhymes,
Truth reflects generations time,
Words become riddles so obscure,
Does destiny mean energy unfurled?
The world becomes an ocean swirl.
The world becomes an ocean swirl.
We pollute the media with lies,
Mother nature doesn't compromise,
She won't negotiate gain or loss,
How much does perfection cost?
Are we so absorbed in our own worlds?
Have we lost the truth in an ocean swirl?
As ice melts earth is swept away,
For our ambition everybody pays
History does not repeat itself it rhymes,
Truth reflects generations time,
Words become riddles so obscure,
Does destiny mean energy unfurled?
The world becomes an ocean swirl.
The world becomes an ocean swirl.
Godspeed you your noble quest,
Opponents who mock are not worth the jest,
Desert sand runs through the hour glass,
I pray courage please correct the past,
For those who dare neglect their fate,
We need more who want to procreate,
The hands of time are aging fast,
The winds of youth search for their mast,
History did not repeat itself it rhymed
Their truth depends on what we do this time
Words are still just riddles so obscure

Our destiny is energy unfurled
The world is now an ocean swirl
The world is now an ocean ,
