I went to your house and rang the bell
And no one answered
So I went back home
And called you on the phone
I can't believe it's true

I went to your house and rang the bell
And no one answered
So I walked right in
I passed you and your friend
I can't believe you're talking to him

I went to your house and rang the bell
And no one answered
So I walked around to the back
I saw you smoking crack
Why does it have to be true

I'll be right there for you when you call me
And it will seem as if I'm not there
You'll have to believe it's true... from me to you
You'll have to believe it's true
