Here's a song, one of our newest records, we hope you like the way we do this. We're very honored tonight to have some of our colleagues in the music business here with us tonight. It's good to see Ronnie Dawson. Ronnie is with the same company that we're with. It's nice to have Ronnie here with us tonight. aAnd of course Jerry Wallace is here with us tonight. It's certainly nice to be workin' with Jerry it's great to have him here at the Longhorn Ballroom. He's a great job and we've enjoyed his company so much tonight. And also one of the all time greats of the country music business Al Dexter. Al is here with us tonight the guy that had the original record on Pistol Packin' Mama and so many of our big records through out the years. "Too Late To Worry" and "Too Blue To Cry" and so it's nice to have Al Dexter here with us tonight too.

Let's do, eh, this next song it's one our our newest records and we hope you like it. It's called "Honky Tonk Season" Here it is one more time...
