(Red Hayes - Charlie Walker)

What strange power do you have that rules this life of mine
That controls the heart that's beating for you all the time
But if I can keep you off my mind a day or two
I will find the way to free myself from you.

I will find the way to free myself, I know will
For I must convince my heart that I don't love you still
And when I wake up to all the things that I've gone through
I will find the way to free myself from you.

--- Instrumental ---

I have been upset by you right from the very start
You just can't imagine how you tortured my poor heart
But the time will come when I will know what's right to do
I will find the way to free myself from you.

I will find the way to free myself, I know will
For I must convince my heart that I don't love you still
And when I wake up to all the things that I've gone through
I will find the way to free myself from you...
