I am afraid of how fast things change,
Seems yesterday, you were singing my name.
Now that you're gone, I'm not the same
Just half of a heart, taking the blame.
I miss your eyes and I miss the way
You made me believe, we would be okay.
And I miss the hope, I had for the day
You would be mine, and love would stay.

I am afraid of what I could do,
Afraid of myself when it comes to you.
To watch your parade, and after all we've been through Kissing the cheek of somebody new.
And miss you eyes and I miss the way,

You made me believe we would be okay.
And I miss the hope I had for the day
Hen you would be mine and love would stay

And love would stay

When it gets cold, don't be alone,
Take that new girl and build her a home.
Be what she needs,
Maybe you'll see
Your more than the man, you used to be
Dance toe to toe, never let go
Of all that you feel
And all that you know

Darling, I hope
You'll wake up one day
In every way hers, and love will stay.
