It's a late night, and he comes home
He thinks of her, she's all alone
Watching TV by an open window
He wonders if she knows he thinks only he knows
But the days are passing
And he thinks she'll forget
So he keep it all here in the back of his head

Shadows on the wall who mock me make a false sense of security
I think of deep thought and I try to compare
My lonely heart to yours, so you know that I'm there
But the days are passing, and the fire is dead
So we keep it all here in the back of your head

Are you out there?
Are you anywhere?
Just say goodbye just like in my nightmare
Are you lost without me?
I swear your better off dead
You should keep it all here in the back of your head

I remember that we had no structure
Lonely park that night I wish I fucked her
Looked to your eyes can't remember whether or not
That I wish this night would last forever
Now the story is ending
And things are better not said
So we keep it all here in the back of your head

Are you out there?
Are you anywhere?
Just say goodbye just like in my nightmare
Are you lost without me?
Swear your better off dead
You should keep it all here in the back of your head

Are you out there?
Are you anywhere?
Just say goodbye just like in my nightmare
Are you lost without me?
Swear your better off dead

You should keep it all here in the back of my head

Are you out there?

Are you anywhere?

Just say goodbye just like in my nightmare

Are you lost without me?

Swear your better off dead

You should keep it all here in the back of your head
