"Little Fighter"

are you cryin' tonight, are you feelin' alright i'll tell the world that you are, down on your luck, you were one of the kind one who'd never give in even when they put a price on your head has anyone heard the tales you tell or seen the scars you wear did anyone speak up when you fell does anybody care

rise again little fighter
and let the world know the reason why shine again little fighter and don't let 'em end the things you do and you were one with a cause, and a reason to be you were a fighter for peace on this earth and you were never afraid you put your life on the line and you were always alone out on the sea

without a weapon in your hand you came to fight a war they took your life, but didn't know that you would never die
