How you choose your words, that's where I judge you, darling
Where the attention comes from depends on how much I care
And I do remember waking up with a headache in your parents' livingroom

I remember those years, they're hard not to remember And all the things you wrote then, I know them word by word
I don't remember playing your piano in your parents' livingroom

Oh, so they say, ?Oh, shut up, will you??
It's so strange how much in life that changes you
And I do remember waking up with a headache in your
parents' livingroom

And a smell and a sound, a moving picture can take you back again
And I, I don't know how to take it and you, you don't know how to spell it Yes, you don't know how to spell it

There's so much we need to say, there's so much to understand
On my way home in the car you held my hand
And I do remember sleeping in your house on the floor
With the dust in my eye

Oh, so they say, ?Oh, shut up, will you??
There are so many secrets and I'm telling this one to you Turning back all the clocks and the memories from your parents' livingroom

you back again
And you, you just know how to spell it
And I, I don't know how to take it
