

Sienna Skies

"Bring Christ Your Broken Heart"

Visit "Bring Christ Your Broken Heart" on MotoLyrics.com

If you've carried your burdens, as far as you can go
If you've reached the end of your own strength
And you just can't go on
If your days are filled with questions
And the answers they just don't come
If you've put your faith in those who let you down
If the road you're on seems like shaky ground
Turn your eyes toward heaven, He is waiting there
You'll find the peace you're longing for in His care
Bring Christ your broken heart
He will comfort you
With love to heal your deepest hurt
And grace to see you through
Fall into His open arms
Bring Christ your broken heart
Bring Christ your broken heart
If you've prayed for the sun to shine
Only to watch it rain
And if you find you're weary from the struggle
Don't think you can try again
When love is just an empty word
That echoes through the canyons of your soul
And you wonder just how long you'll feel this way
Will you have the strength to hold on one more day
There is One who hears you and who understands
Place your wound soul in His nail-scarred hands

Visit Sienna Skies page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.