Why can't I wake up today
And remember the same things
I knew yesterday to be true
Tell me why do I doubt
When it's all figured out
When my eyes cannot see
I just need to believe
I know that mountains still move
I've seen the power of You
In my heart
The proof's in my heart
I am the water that turned
Into the wine so I've learned
Who You are
The proof's in my heart
How many faces do I see
And say to myself
Can they really change
What difference can be made
When not so long ago
I was on that same road to Damascus
Asking who called my name?
If You can set Your people free
Cause the blind to see
You can calm the storm in me
