The season change
But all that remains
Is that you find your way

The Way it kills
When Emotions closes all it's doors
And locks you out of everything

And now you're caught
Between the lines
That you used to carry each day
When you cared

And now I'm disgusted
By the way I feel
And How I never let things go

The season change
But all that remains
Is that you find your way

I get so lost
Inside these blackened walls
Where I find myself
Reaching to breathe
And now I see that
I can't blame myself
For the way I feel
When I am falling

And now I'm disgusted
By the way I feel
And How I never let things go

The season change
But all that remains
Is that you find your way

The season change
But all that remains
Is that you find your way

I'm disgusted by the way
I felt for so long

This happens everyday (Everyday)
When will I be okay (Be Okay)
This is still a fact
I wont turn my back
On this now

The season change
But all that remains
Is that you find your way

The season change
But all that remains
Is that you find your way

The season change (Change)
But all that remains (Remains)
Is that you find your way
