I don't find it terribly easy
To dedicate my life to love

Your eyes like candy
Hear you like brandy
They sent you from above

All night I crave light
And in the morning I want it dark again

Oh citrus diamond, bleak asylum
My chest feels like a drain

I think that Thursday was the first day
I really saw the stars
But I can't reach you and my arms ache
From reaching through these bars

I save my fields for something else
Stay away you Valentine

Each thought she has is cool, perfect and exact
But I can't match that
I'm a black cat stepping on a crack

I save my fields for something else
Stay away you Valentine
I know it flashes like a salt
And Jesus comes for a time

I don't find it terribly easy
To dedicate my life to love

I save my fields for something else
Stay away you Valentine
I know it flashes like a salt
And Jesus comes for a time
