just wake up
you're going nowhere
it seems to me that you don't really care and now, something i sure won't miss is thinking that i could do better than this

3AM
and still no sign tell me what is your excuse this time it's just another night, i should have known take your second chance back i'm better on my own because i'm through waiting for you and now the only thing for you to do is just go, if this life isn't for you i know, there's nothing you could do to show me who you really are we both know you're far from being a star this life just isn't for you

just wake up
you're wasting everyone's time when you make up all of your hollywood lines and now, something you just don't see is you'll never find someone better than me

because i'm through waiting for you

to show me who you really are

how long will it take before you can get a hint all of the mistakes that i've been keeping in you asked for this last embrace before i turned you in but this is the moment i let go

i know, there's nothing that you could do to show me what you are
