"Light Years Away"

We only see it on the inside Imagine where it ever came from Understand with all our insight 'cos what we see is already gone we know it's elemental
we only know what we reveal the space between the systems the space between you and me that star that's in the distance it's disappearance never seen that light that holds existence turns our nights into our days don't you know we're light years away the light within the systems the light in that shines so vast of its constance our life an instance in its time
we only know what we reveal
