it's all too soon
we said goodbye can't stand to watch you leave but i promised i would not cry i've stood for ten minutes by the door finally let one teardrop fall now i feel it all come crashing down the moment you walked away you're not around and it's funny how the only one who could stop tears is the one who causes them now i've been so strong trying to forget, and moving on with my life but then you had to call me and it all came crashing down when i heard your voice i needed you then and it's funny how you were the only one who could stop my tear and you still cause them now said you wanted to come back and i thought i'd let you in but you're not the only one who won't get the best of me so now i'm coming down to say it's really over you lost your chance to make it up to me ain't it funny how the only one you thought you loved doesn't want you now
