there's a spaceman standing on my stoop
he's calling up to me
he wants to take me home
and here i thought i was all along
but i'm wrong
there's a feeling swimming over me that i'm incomplete and i'm not asleep

every now and then the arms will open wide and i will rise into the sky

there's a silver halo on her head the storm is gonna pass her hero's on his way
