So make my day,
Give it all you've got,
Step up to the line,
I will show you up.

With a look of death,
And murder on his breath,
You will not stand a chance,
This is the end.

You have just one more shot,
To prove you are,
More than words and that,
You're worth existence.

So I'm leaving you,
With nothing left,
You're broken down,
And I wish you the best.

You took it all away from me,
Now I've got nothing left to leave.

You feed off of me,
Like some kind of disease,
With every breath I take.

Stealing my life,
One breath at a time,
You'll never know just what it means.

To be so down,
And out with nothing left,
To show,
For everything you owned.

One thing is taken away from me,
But with my life I know,
I'll always be free.

So I'm leaving you,

With nothing left,
You're broken down,
And I wish you the best.
You took it all away from me,
Now there's nothing left except to leave.

I am finally breathing on my own,
The sun is shining over the hill on my home.

I, I can finally breath,
Easier than it used to be,
And I can stand, on my own,
As I see the path to lead me home.

So I'm leaving you,
With nothing left.
You're broken down,
And I wish you the best.
You took it all.

You took it all.
