Get down from your throne
This is not how this works
I put this together with my own hands
You won't get anywhere without me
I am the guardian
Of all that exists
Your prophet; your ruler
Lies to your face
My world is your labyrinth
Following a path
To energetic impalement
The monument to all my sins will be disposed
I've been searching for serenity
To break these chains
I've been looking for a better way
Out of this rain I'm drowning in
The walls are caving in
You will never take a part of me away
Stand down, this is a mutiny
I am a monument to all your sins
High charity shall prevail
