Verse 1:

I Feel a little crazy Coz I still don't know who I wanna be Coz I wont live like a crim down the side of a lane Coz I stole the key and turned the lever to the other side

Pre Chorus:

You got me outta my skin

Chorus:

I, I said to you, that there's, a million different reasons to stop all believing And you try to live a better day but your Your seeing different colours but your living simple shades of grey When your low, your low But your seeing different colours and your living simple shades of grey

Verse 2:

I feel a little hazy, It's time to decide but I feel like I'm torn in two I'm depressed at best I fell a little bit stressed as I'm looking for someone to blame Coz I stole the key and turned the lever to the other side

Pre Chorus:

You got me outa my skin
Save Me
You got me outa my skin

Chorus:

I, I said to you, that there's, a million different reasons
to stop all believing And you try to live a better day but
your Your seeing different colours but your living simple shades of grey When your low, your low But
your seeing different colours and your living simple
shades of grey

Pre Chorus:

You got me outa my skin
Save Me
You got me outa my skin

Chorus:

I, I said to you, that there's, a million different reasons
to stop all believing And you try to live a better day but
your Your seeing different colours but your living simple shades of grey When your low, your low But
your seeing different colours and your living simple
shades of grey
