He takes a step right beside her and she looks the other way
Another reason for heartbreak is more than he can take He puts his lips next to her ear and she tries to act the part
The words he whispers are made clear and her world starts to fall apart

Don't you know how it feels to be unloved?
Can't you feel that it is real?
Don't you wanna be the one to save her?
Can't you help, can't you help?

He takes a step back to turn around a slight grin upon his face
She knows now what she has lost and never again will gain
But as he strolls back to the car he sees tears all on her face
And as he reaches for the door she cries out his name

Don't you know how it feels to be unloved?
Can't you feel that it is real?
Don't you wanna be the one to save her?
Can't you help, can't you help?

He walks back to her side to hear her desperate cry
He ignores her every word and tells her to say goodbye He keeps his thoughts inside his head how she got what she deserved
And in the very end justice again was served
