In the days of the wolf when I could sing like her
Are the days of the wolf when I could be with you
Through these hours of the sleep when I feel like her
Are these hours of the sleep when she don't look at him

And it's good to have been
And it's good to have been
And it's good to have been
And it's good to have been

In the days of the wolf when I could sing like her
Are the days of the wolf when I could be with you
Through these hours of the sleep when I feel like her
Are these hours of the sleep when she don't look at him

And it's good to have been
And it's good to have been
And it's good to have been
And it's good to have been
